

The Entrepreneur's Quiz

March 2018

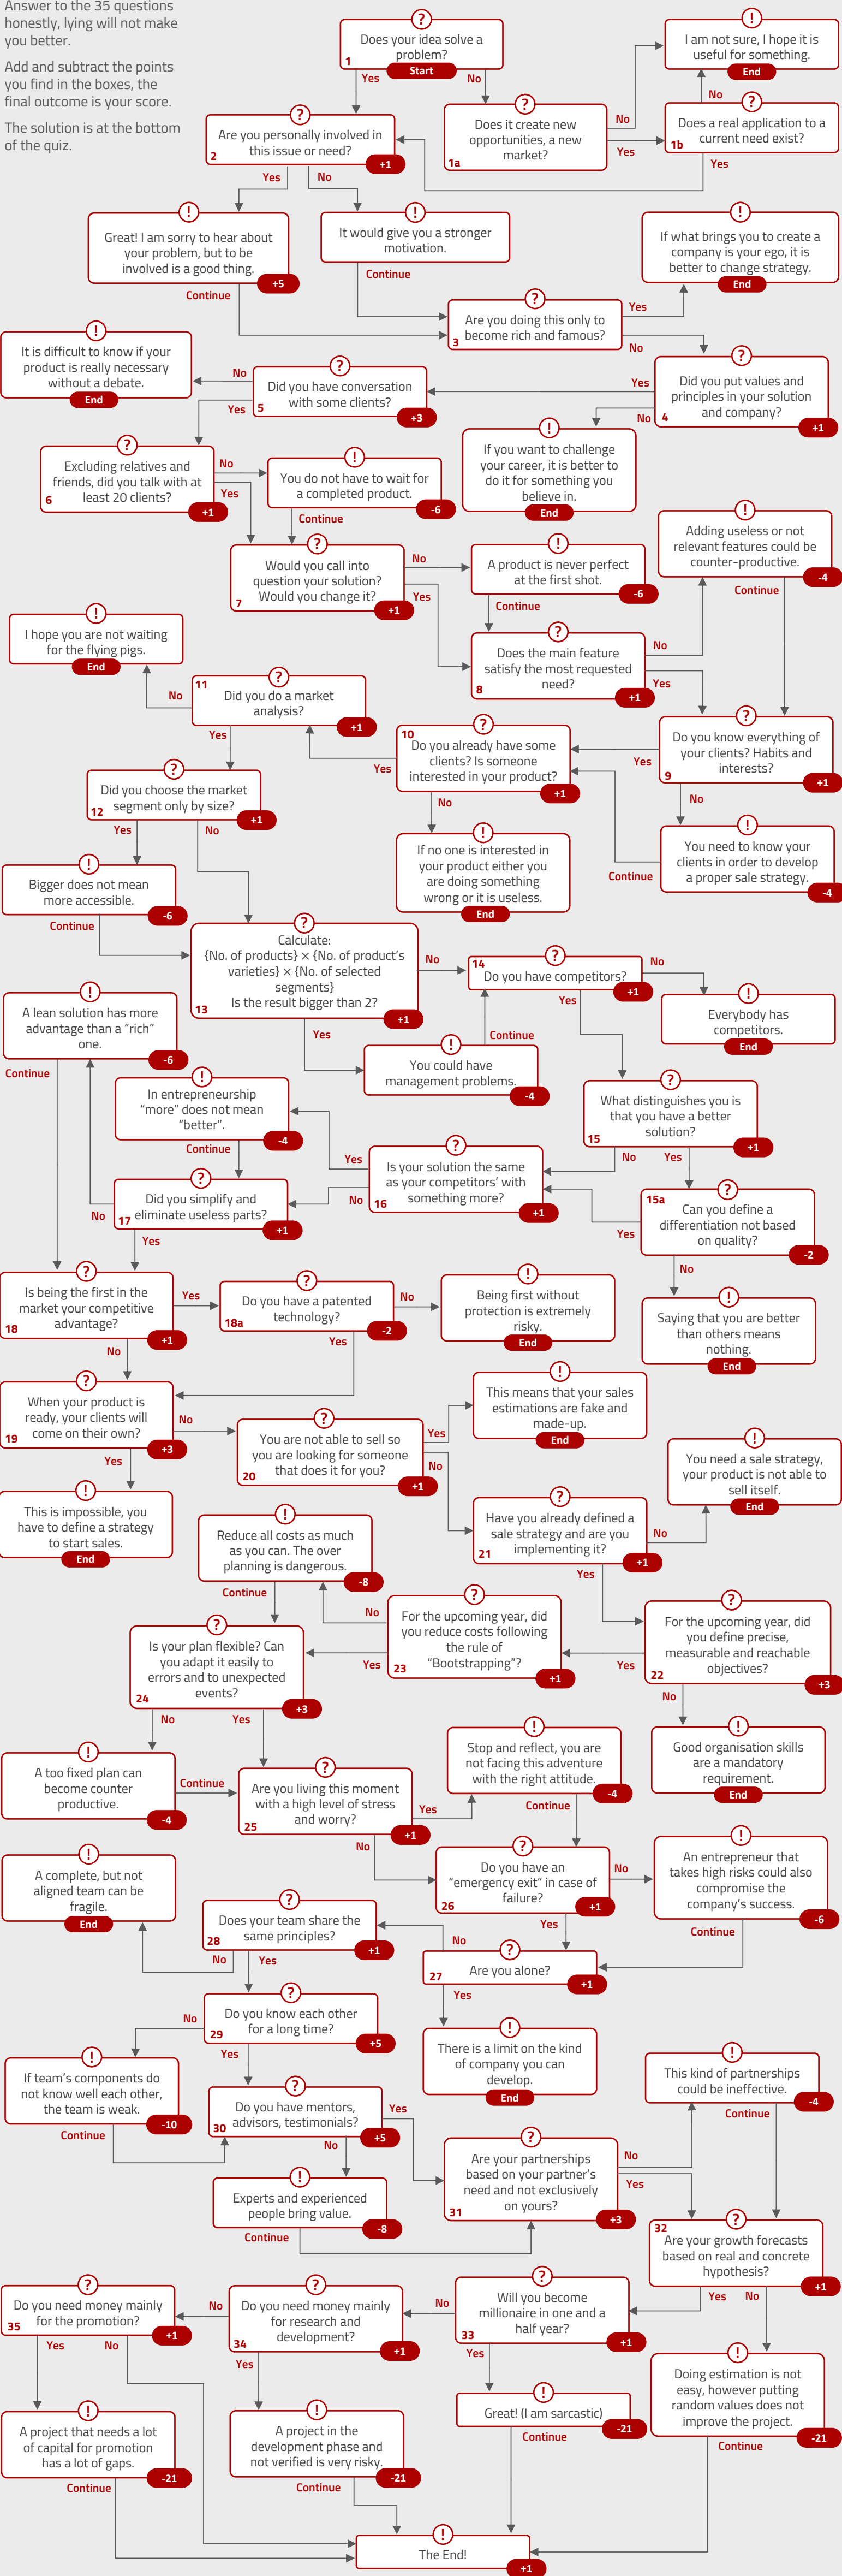

Are you investment ready?

How it works

Answer to the 35 questions honestly, lying will not make you better.

Add and subtract the points you find in the boxes, the final outcome is your score.

The solution is at the bottom of the quiz.

The maximum score is 57

These 35 questions are based on personal studies and observations, so it is not exact science.

In entrepreneurship there are several shades and there is always the exception that confirms the rule.

However, some of these answers are important for an investor because the company can fail in the long term even if it is strong in the short one.

The main objective of this quiz is to let you reflect on your current situation in order to take the right decisions and move on a better direction.

Please, feel free to contact me for ideas, suggestions or feedback.

Remember

The main principles for a company are honesty and trust.

An entrepreneur that lies to himself/herself or to his/her colleagues cannot build a company which is capable to overcome all the challenges in this adventure.

The investment process is based on trust: the investor does not only invest because the project is interesting but also because he/she believes in you.